If you have 3 phases to play with you can install 3x the capacity compared to a single phase supply and not upset your DNSP. If you have a 3 phase supply you should get a 3 phase net-meter when your solar is installed. This meter will ensure that you are not disadvantaged financially by having micro inverters on a 3 phase supply as described here:

Fimer offers the broadest portfolio of three-phase string inverters on the market, for photovoltaic (PV) systems installed in commercial, industrial and utility scale applications. Thanks to their modularity and flexibility, our inverters are the ideal solution for simplified system planning and design. The wide range of power ratings, up to 350 kW, along with the possibility to install in ...

If you built a sufficiently large single phase system you could use something like a Phase Perfect to get the 3 phase current needed for a sensitive machine like the Haas. A diesel generator would probably be a much cheaper way to get 3 phase balanced power, though the Tier 4 shit they require you to have in CA is an absolute nightmare to deal ...

A 10kW 3 phase grid tie solar inverter is a device that converts the direct current (DC) electricity generated by a solar panel array into alternating current (AC) electricity suitable for feeding into a three phase power grid. Rated at 10 kilowatts, it can handle up to 10,000 watts of power output, making it suitable for medium to large ...
