

Is Bosch a good brand in Korea?

Business in the country was modest, supplying car dealers and private automobile owners with Bosch magneto ignition systems. Bosch was not yet a big enough company to have its own branches in all the markets around the world. Moreover, at the time, Korea had no automakers of its own, and so sales experts didn't see it as a promising market.

How much will Bosch Korea make in a year?

The Bosch Group as a whole will achieve sales of 46 billion euros (about 59 trillion won) this year for a growth of 5 percent over 2006. The new headquarters in Yongin will serve as the central building for Bosch Korea with its eight locations, including five major manufacturing locations (Daejeon, Gunpo, Anseong, Buyong, and Busan).
