Gebe wants to create a solar park at the two parking facilities on the Walter Nisbeth Road and on the roof of its power plant building. One of the reasons for creating the solar park is to gradually move away from the fossil fuels Gebe currently uses towards clean solar energy. If all goes well, Gebe will expand solar capacity to 4 to 6 Megawatt.

This omission could hinder the growth of decentralised renewable energy generation and limit the benefits of solar energy expansion. Encouraging decentralised solar energy production could significantly contribute to St. Maarten's overall energy mix, reducing strain on NV GEBE's infrastructure and fostering a more sustainable energy ...

PHILIPSBURG - On April 24, 2014, the Council of Ministers approved a rather unique document: the National Energy Policy for Country Sint Maarten. The document has an ambitious subtitle: Towards a sustainable development. It looked like the era of renewable energy had finally arrived on the island. But more than five years later nothing much [...]

A new model, made in collaboration between solar panel specialist Solarge and material manufacturer Econcore, replace the PV tiles of heavy glass with a robust but lightweight honeycomb structure. As a result, the panels are up to 65% lighter than conventional ones, making them easier to install. Why is the weight of a solar panel important?
